COAL STRIKE THROTTLES CITY

Labor Leaders Weld Solid Front to Support Lewis

GOVERNMENT GETS SET FOR LONG BATTLE

Truman Showing No Signs of Backing Up Despite Verbal Blasts.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — (UP) —John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers today posted appeal bonds for the full amount of their $3,510,000 contempt fines as the government promised to keep on slugging in its battle to break the coal strike on the administration's terms.

WASHINGTON — (INS) —Philip Murray, president of the CIO, called upon the leaders of American labor today to meet quickly and devise "in unity a common program" of measures to combat the "move to cripple the labor movement."

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Organized labor welded a solid front today against the government's drive to quash the coal strike by injunction.

In a series of denunciatory statements, union leaders of all camps turned pressure on the Truman administration to back away from pressing the legal action which has brought fines of $3,500,000 on the United Mine Workers and $10,000 on John L. Lewis, the miners' adamant chieftain.

Old enmities were put aside in the common cause of supporting Lewis' stand that U. S. District Judge T. Alan Goldsborough had no lawful right to order the miners work stoppage ended. It was Lewis' disregard for the order which brought him the fine for contempt.

CIO President Philip Murray, brushing off a long-time bitter feud with Lewis, announced he would join the UMW in appealing Goldsborough's rulings to the supreme court.

AFL President William Green called the government's course "applying the rule of the jungle."

Railway labor executives, through their association, already had spoken out similarly.

Auto Union Lines Up.

Top officials of the CIO United Automobile Workers — biggest union of them all—declared flatly:

"The organized labor movement will not tolerate this attempt to turn back the clock of progress in labor relations."

If this verbal assault was making any impression on President Truman and those helping him map strategy, there was no sign of it anywhere.

On the contrary, a new series of fuel-saving restrictions was in preparation as though the administration was digging in for a long siege, if need be.

* * *

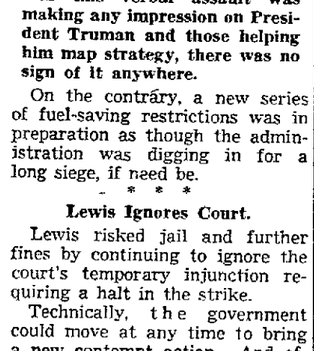
Lewis Ignores Court.

Lewis risked jail and further fines by continuing to ignore the court's temporary injunction requiring a halt in the strike.

Technically, the government could move at any time to bring a new contempt action. And officials have made known that preparations are going forward for possible prosecution under the Smith-Connally Act which makes it a crime to encourage or incite a strike in a government-held plant.

CASTLE LOOTED

LONDON — (INS) — The London Daily Telegraph reported today that the 46-year-old Prince of Pless, god-son of the late King Edward VII, has received word of alleged wholesale looting of his 12th century Fuerstenstein castle by Russian and Polish occupation forces.



15,000 at O'Neil's By Noon

By JOHN MINE

O'Neil's, Mansfield's newest store, opened to a throng of gift-hungry shoppers at 10 a. m., today, and store officials estimated 15,000 persons had visited the modernistic establishment by noon.

Hundreds waited for hours to be among the first to enter the city's newest department store—and to have first crack at some of its scarce items.

They milled before the store's doors, some being forced to stand across the street for want of sidewalk room around the remodeled, three-floor structure. Broadcast Christmas carols filled the air.

* * *

MAYOR CUTS RIBBON AT DOOR

Following the cutting of a ribbon by Mayor Roy W. Vaughn, which signaled the official opening of the store, the throng swept inside and seemed to invade all three floors at once.

At first they didn't buy. They just looked and enjoyed it all. But when the shoppers—mostly women, with a sprinkling of men—got their "bearings," the seven-man police crew had its hands full.

Shirts, sheets and diapers caused the main bottle-necks, as hundreds hurried to the counters where these items were sold to get 'em while they lasted.

At one point, patrolmen actually had to control the flow of traffic to the basement by "rationing" the number admitted. Sheets were the target there.

Possibly for "strategic" reasons, Store Manager Jack Miller located the sheets in the basement, the shirts on the first floor and the diapers on the second. They went like the proverbial hot-cakes.

The store which occupies the Mohican building, has been under construction for months. A last-minute construction spurt permitted opening in time for Christmas shopping.

Representatives of the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber of Commerce, retail merchants, bank executives and businessmen were guests of the M. O'Neil company this morning at an opening day breakfast at the Sky Club restaurant.

Approximately 50 persons gathered in the holly-decorated downstairs dining room of the restaurant for scrambled eggs, bacon, rolls, jelly and coffee, prior to a preview of the new store.

Serving as chairman at the breakfast was Lester L. Kinsey, secretary-treasurer of the company, who in turn introduced Lincoln H. Gries, vice president and general manager of the new store. Mayor Vaughn welcomed the new store to the city.

W. J. Gluckman, supervisor of branch operations, was unable to attend the breakfast, because of responsibilities at the new store.

NEW STORE OPENS—Thousands jammed sidewalks at Third and Main streets today, waiting their turn to enter the new M. O'Neil company store. Some 15,000 had shopped at Mansfield's newest department store by noon. Before the formal opening at 10 a. m., officials of the company held a Grand Opening breakfast at the Sky club, attended by merchants and city officials. In the lower photo, taken at the breakfast, are, left to right: H. G. Brunner, executive vice-president, Mansfield Savings Trust National bank; Lester L. Kinsey, O'Neil company secretary-treasurer; Jack Miller, O'Neil's Mansfield store manager; C. F. Ackerman, president of the Savings bank; Lincoln Gries, O'Neil company general manager, and Mayor Roy W. Vaughn.

Mail, Freight Embargoes Slapped On

Postoffices Jammed as Patrons Try to Beat Deadline With Their Holiday Bundles; Picture Desperate In Area.

Mansfield industrial and business activity was slowed to a walk today as the city area felt the combined effects of a coal shortage and freight embargo.

In nearby communities, too, the coal strike was forcing cutbacks in employment and production. Municipal power plants in several Mansfield area towns reported dangerously short coal supplies.

The Mansfield post office this morning was digging out of a "tremendous amount" of parcel post mailed yesterday by Mansfielders who made a last-minute effort to escape the parcel post limitations which went into effect at midnight. Acting Postmaster C. L. Ford reported mail clerks were "snowed under."

Most Westinghouse employes today received their last full pay-check until settlement of the coal strike. The plant will not operate tomorrow, and Monday it goes on a four-day week because of the freight embargo.

A company spokesman said there was "absolutely no truth" to a rumor that Westinghouse would not open Monday. He added, however, that if supplies are not sufficient, the plant may not operate the full four days next week.

Continuation of the coal strike into next week will be a "severe blow" to Mansfield merchants, John G. Routzon, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, predicted.

"The effect of the freight embargo, with its decreased employment and shortage of retailers' supplies, will be felt by merchants here within a few days," Routzon said. "It's particularly unfortunate that this is happening during the Christmas shopping season."

* * *

Hotel Supplies Low.

Mansfield hotels reported dwindling fuel supplies, and Mansfield homes, too, were beginning to feel the pinch. Retail coal merchants forecast empty bins in some homes within a week.

The Mansfield-Leland hotel said it has a coal supply sufficient 'for a week or two."

City and county schools, however, announced they had enough coal to operate all schools normally until Christmas vacation begins on Dec. 20.

The Mansfield Tire and Rubber company, the city's second largest industry, said it hoped normal production could be maintained because of an exception to the freight embargo which permits shipments of supplies necessary for highway transportation.

(The News-Journal wire services have not reported issuance of an exception to the government order.)

"The exception (has) eased transportation problems for the company and officials saw the possibility that the embargo will have little immediate effect on plant operations," the statement said.

"Relative to the company's supply of coal, officials said the plant stockpile is sufficient to prevent any immediate emergency, but they added that continuance of the strike for any extended period naturally would seriously affect operations."

As the embargo went into effect, railroads here reported no cutback in employment in Mansfield. Effective Monday, 15 Pennsylvania and Erie passenger trains will be cancelled in accordance with the government order cutting passenger service 25 per cent.

In Bucyrus, however, the New York Central railroad prepared to lay off 100 workers between now and Monday. The Pennsylvania railroad will cut the number of passenger trains serving Bucyrus from eight to two on Monday.

Two Shelby industries have laid off 700 employes as the shortage of coal and the freight embargo forced a cutback in production.

The Ohio Seamless Tube company and the Shelby Metal Products company have closed their plants for the weekend, and the Metal Products concern will not reopen for the duration of the emergency, officials announced today.

J. P. Adkins, general manager of Shelby municipal utilities, said the municipal power plant has a 10-day supply of coal, with more coal expected next week.

Willard Municipal Power company reported a five-day supply, while Galion officials estimated present stockpiles at seven days.

GOP PLANNING BIG 'CLEANUP'

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Republican leaders promised today they would back a "constructive" program in a new congress which Rep. Martin (Mass.) told them would have the job of "cleaning up" after 14 years of the New Deal.

Martin, who will be the next speaker of the house, declared at a GOP national committee banquet it was up to the party to "rescue the country from the ravages of 14 years of New Deal spendthrift policies and secret government."

National committeemen, turning today to discussions of a site for the next presidential convention and the raising of campaign funds, agreed the top legislative program in the 80th congress would weigh heavily in the 1948 race for the White House.

Martin regretted last night that "we do not control the executive branch and because of this we may not be able to accomplish all we hope to do." But committee members told newsmen the party still must take the lead on Capitol Hill.

Jouett Ross Todd, committeeman from Kentucky, said he hopes the Republicans will offer without delay labor legislation designed to prevent critical work stoppages such as the coal strike.

Chairman Carroll Reece told the committee yesterday it should select a 1948 convention city without delay, predicting that housing conditions for delegates and "rooters" may well be as bad then as now.

Call Public Forum On Bigger TB Hospital

An open forum on the proposal to make Richland county's $400,000 tuberculosis hospital into a three or four-county institution will be held in Mansfield's municipal court room Dec. 11 at 8 p. m., it was announced today.

Jacque R. Wilkinson, a former patient at the county TB sanatorium, said he and a group of some 30 others interested in the idea of a hospital serving the area instead of merely the county have called the meeting.

Invited are the county commissioners, representatives of physicians and nurses societies, county TB associations, TB patients and former patients and all other interested persons in Richland, Ashland, Morrow and Crawford counties.

* * *

Wants Idea Aired.

"We still feel that a three or four-county hospital is immeasurably better than the small institution the county intends to build. There are many reasons a larger hospital is a better deal. We want to call those reasons to the public's attention and, in turn, receive the benefit of opinions from others who are interested or directly concerned by such an institution," Wilkinson said.

All three of Richland county's commissioners have expressed opposition to an area hospital, largely because it would take direct control of it out of their hands. They have repeatedly expressed the opinion that control of the sanatorium should be left in the hands of elected officials instead of those of an appointed board of trustees or directors.

However, proponents of the tri-county or district sanatorium point out that delays already encountered in constructing the county hospital would not be made much worse by a switch to a larger institution serving a greater segment of the population at lower overhead cost.

Dr. Oren A. Beatty, medical director of the county sanatorium, is strongly in favor of the district idea. He recently addressed the Ashland County Medical society on the topic, after which the society endorsed the idea and recommended to Ashland county commissioners that action be taken to realize it.

At present Richland county's commissioners are stalled on the proposed new $400,000 sanatorium because of lack of approval of the project from federal agencies.

An application for a construction permit from the CPA was submitted late in October.

Glenn Thompson, regional CPA director at Cleveland, told the News-Journal this morning that the CPA had unanimously approved the application but that it was disapproved by the NHA which appealed CPA's decision to

'CONFIRM' STALIN ILL

PARIS—(AP)—Unnamed "sources in London" were quoted today by the London correspondent of the French rightist paper, L'Epoque, as having "confirmed" reports from Turkey that Prime Minister Stalin was seriously ill.

The correspondent said these sources asserted that Stalin suffered "a new stroke Nov. 4 and was carried to Stochi on the shore of the Black sea near Batum where last year he tried to recover his health."

"Some weeks ago," the article said, "he (Stalin) declined to see President Truman on account of ill health. The last time he was seen in public was Sept. 8 at a motorized forces' review."

(Two Istanbul newspapers Tanin and Tasvir, published assertions on Dec. 3 that Stalin was seriously ill.

(On Nov. 7 Associated Press Correspondent Eddy Gilmore filed in Moscow a dispatch which said that persons close to Stalin say he is in good health and that he probably will be in about the same physical condition on his birthday —Dec. 21—as he was last year. This dispatch was not transmitted to New York until 11 p. m. Moscow time, Nov. 19.)

DRAFT BAN 'ON' ANOTHER MONTH

WASHINGTON—(INS)— Thousands of draft eligibles were free today to at least start the new year as civilians.

The war department extended through January the ban it placed on the draft the middle of last October because of record-breaking voluntary enlistments at that time.

War department officials declined to "even hazard a guess" as to whether draft calls be put through for February and March.

JAP TEA SHIPPED

TOKYO — (INS) — Gen. MacArthur's headquarters announced today that the first shipment of Japanese tea destined for Africa and Europe will leave Shimizu harbor today. The shipment totals 3,500 cases, with 8,000 more scheduled to be exported before March of next year.

FRENCH CLASH OVER LEADERS

PARIS—(INS)—France remained without "a government" today in the midst of pressing fiscal problems while the major parties began private negotiations aimed at a solution of the impasse which has balked the election of a premier.

With the assembly adjourned until Tuesday, two former premiers moved into the forefront of possible candidates for the interim premiership — Socialist Felix Gouin and Edouard Herriot, 74-year-old leader of the radical Socialists.

Their positions seemed strengthened by the determination of the Communists and popular Republicans, largest and second largest groups in the assembly, to oppose each other.

SENATOR RECOVERING

GALLIPOLIS—(AP)—State Senator Tom W. Jones, 73, of Middleport, was recovering in Holzer hospital today from head and shoulder injuries suffered when his automobile struck a guard rail near Cheshire yesterday.

City Hears Old-Fashioned Belling Again

Forty-five Madison and Washington township neighbors and farmers turned "disturbers of the peace" last night—and they had a reason.

For 20 minutes they rang cow bells and dinner bells and banged away on saws on the front porch of the Fred Ammeter home, 635 Lexington avenue.

Then, finally the noise stopped. Newlyweds Howard and Ardith (Murray) Ammeter decided to give in to the bellers who were giving the young couple their first taste of the old-fashioned tradition.

The overseas navy veteran and his bride returned recently from a honeymoon to New York state, following their marriage in Mansfield, Nov. 15.

"Hum (Howard's nickname) and Ardith were too surprised to say anything," Mrs. Ammeter said today as she reported the celebration. 'The minute the door opened the neighbors streamed in and presented them with a lovely gift."

$4,— JETS SPEED BANANAS

NEW YORK— (INS) —The first shipment of rocket-propelled bananas were ready for the market today in New York. The bananas were shipped by air in a DC-4 from Mexico City which was helped off the Mexican capital's high altitude airport by "aerojet" rockets installed under its wings.

It Takes Six People Two Hours to Count His 73,747 'White Pennies'

By PHILIP GREENE

Did you ever count to 73,747 a digit at a time?

It took six employes of the Mansfield Savings Trust National bank two and a quarter hours to count that many pennies yesterday afternoon when Herschel Darr, hobbyist, turned them in.

Darr, who lives at 177 Buckingham street, pulled that surprise on the bank after having saved for the past three years every white, zinc-coated penny that came into his possession.

Darr said: "Why did I keep them? I just wanted to save money." Besides the 73,747 pennies he "cashed" at the bank Darr still has 1,000 others at home, including the first white penny he ever received.

"I want to buy a new motorcycle," Darr explained.

The pennies he turned into the bank weighed just short of 460 pounds. He had them all wrapped in containers and they were carried to the bank in 30 cigar boxes.

Among the 1,000 white pennies he still has at home are 433 "choice" ones laid out on a fancy sheet of muslin three feet long by two and one-half feet wide and covered with a plate of glass. In the center of the white muslin Darr's wife, Betty, has embroidered a red, black and yellow eagle and a red, white and blue shield inside a red triangle border. At the top of the emblem is stitched the Victory symbol, three dots and a dash.

The white pennies were first minted in 1943 at Philadelphia, San Francisco and Denver.

End of Cold Snap Eases Ohio Troubles

COLUMBUS—(AP)—With temperatures well above the freezing mark in most of Ohio, reports of immediate hardship from the coal shortage lessened today.

It was predicted, however, unemployment and drastic conservation measures if the mine strike continued.

No additional schools were reported closed and no major industrial lay-offs occurred. The Pittsburgh Plate Glass company, which Wednesday announced sharp cutbacks in plants employing 17,000 changed its plans and said it would operate for another week or 10 days at current levels. The company has a window glass plant at Mt. Vernon, O.

Hamilton, O., after blacking out street lights Wednesday night, received a supply of coal from the Champion Paper and Fiber company which enabled residential streets to be lighted fully last night. An Ohio State Guard unit which aided police in patroling the city during the blackout was released from duty.

Railroad workers, already hard-hit by lay-offs due to the shut-of 1,300 workers soon, down of soft coal mines, were in for further employment cuts at the start of next week.

At Zanesville a seven-week-old strike affecting 1,100 mosaic tile employes was ended last night with ratification of a new contract by members of the CIO Glass, Ceramic and Silica Sand Workers Union, but only a few of the workers will be able to return to their jobs because of the coal shortage and freight embargo.

The Owens Corning Fiberglas company plant at Newark announced a partial shutdown today because of the rail embargo, and the Pharis Tire and Rubber company there reported dwindling coal supplies might cause the lay-off

MANSFIELD CAGERS MEET WAPAKONETA TONIGHT

Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp

JUST HOW MUCH elasticity the Mansfield Senior high school gymnasium has will get its first test tonight when the first scholastic game of the local season is unfurled. . . . The small Tyger plant has been packed to the limit many times in its 20-year history and should draw capacity crowds in the 11 home contests of 1946-1947. . . . In Wapakoneta, the Bengals will be playing a club that lost only two tilts last year. . . . One of the defeats was handed out by Vern Hoffman's court artists, 42-29, and then the Redskins scalped 17 straight foes before losing their own forelocks in the regional meet, to Bowling Green. . . . County and area cage attractions this season have drawn their largest fan assemblages in history and Mansfield could crack some records, also, if there was a large enough place in which to stage basketball games.

The Tyger lair seats only 1,500 persons and about 800 Senior high students are sure to grab seats. . . . That leaves approximately 700 spots for outsiders. . . . Oh yes, the ticket window will start dealing out "pasteboards" at 6:30 with the reserve game getting under way at 7.

LATEST All-America team, the one chosen by Collier's Grantland Rice, comes pretty close to being the most sensible of the 1946 honor teams. . . . Experts close to the grid situation aver that Arnold Tucker was probably the most important cog in the Army backfield. . . . He was a great passer, superb ball-handler and above all could carry the mail with the best of them when Mr. Inside Blanchard and Mr. Outside Davis were bottled up or out of the line-up. . . . In its three years as pace-makers of the national football front, Army has been blessed by outstanding generalship. . . . Doug Kenna held the reins in 1944 and the past two seasons it has been Miami's Tucker at the helm. . . . Rice chose a 12-man "all" club so that Tucker, Johnny Lujack, Notre Dame, and Charlie Trippi, Georgia, could take their places alongside Davis and Blanchard, first three-year All-Americans since Red Grange lugged plenty of leather for Illinois in 1923, '24 and '25.

Linemen on the Collier's team are: Burr Baldwin, UCLA and Hank Foldberg, Army, ends; George Conner, Notre Dame, and Dick Huffman, Tennessee, tackles; Weldon Humble, Rice, and John Mastrangelo, Notre Dame, guards, and Paul Duke, Georgie Tech, center. . . . Ohio State's Warren Amling was the No. 3 choice for tackle.

FEATHERWEIGHT Paul Carbetta can take a long stride along the fistic trail by a good showing against Jackie Graves, one of the nation's top ranking boxers. . . . Oomph Paul has been signed to meet Graves in Minneapolis on Dec. 11 and it is easily the most important battle of the Mansfield lad's pro ring career. . . . Graves has won 49 of 50 fights and lost only to Willie Pep, world's champ, in the eight round last September. . . . Paul made his mark 20 of 23 starts by putting Paul Chancy among the "birdies" in the VFW-Christmas show here last week. . . . He leaves for Cleveland Friday and will entrain with his manager, Mike Getz, for Minneapolis Saturday morning.

Game Control Sets Up First Fox Hunt

All hunters interested in thinning out fox in the county are urged to participate in the first 1946-47 Richland county game and pest control hunt at Little Washington, tomorrow morning at 9.

A hot dinner will be served at noon in the Little Washington church basement. The community grange will furnish the meal, Harold Snyder, club president announced today.

Blume High Boasts 3 Lettermen

With a convincing 47-27 victory over an alumni five under their belts, the Mansfield Senior high basketball team meets its first high school opposition tonight when the Wapakoneta Blume high invades the Tyger lair.

Even though they had little trouble against the more experienced and taller grads, the Tygers have been getting plenty of work in fundamentals this week from Coach Vern Hoffman. The Bengals' passing and ball handling was rusty in Tuesday's game but should be better tonight.

Wapak is another team that suffers from the lack of height and Coach Paul Schofer has only three lettermen to choose from. Chuck Schaub, 1945-46 regular; Dan McKeever, last season first-line replacement, and Johnny Wehner, service returnee are the monogram holders.

John Neiter, Louis Erb and Bill Miller round out the Blume high starting possibilities. All were on the reserve squad last season and Neiter and Erb represent the long and short of the Wapak squad. Neiter hits the six-foot mark while Erb stands only five-four.

Hoffman appears pretty well set on his opening quintet although he will do a little experimenting if possible. Mansfield has three tough games next week going to Bellevue and Lima South and meeting Cleveland Collinwood in the Senior high gym on Dec. 13.

On the basis of their showing against the alumni, Ralph Majors and Jerry Robfogel, forwards; Chuck Sisco, center, and Ollie Cline and Nick Gagich, guards, look like a good bet to be in at the opening whistle. However, Gagich has been alternating with another junior, Shelley Swank.

The latter performer has been the Tygers' most consistent scorer in practice sessions, but Gagich took individual honors with 10 markers in the alumni fracas. Cline, Majors, Sisco and Robfogel won letters last year. Sisco and Robfogel are the lone six-footers on the varsity squad.

Coach Fred Staub's sophomores will collide with the Wapakoneta reserves in the preliminary at 7 p. m.

Indians, Yankees Make More Trades

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— The New York Yankees today traded two pitchers and Outfielder Hal Peck to the Cleveland Indians for Second Baseman Ray Mack and a catcher in the biggest deal so far the the winter baseball meetings.

The Yanks gave up Peck, formerly of the Athletics and who batted .247 in 48 games this year, and Al Gettel, right-hander who won 6 and lost 7, and Gene Beardon, southpaw who was with Oakland, Calif., in the 1946 season.

In exchange the Indians sent to New York Mack, who hit .205 in 61 games this year, and Catcher Sherman Lollar, who was batting champion of the International league in 1945.

Richland County Games

Four games are on tap for the Richland county basketball league tonight. Plymouth plays at Lexington, Shiloh travels to Butler, Bellville plays host to Lucas, and Union entertains Ontario.

Aussies Victorious

MELBOURNE, Australia—(AP) —Australia's stellar doubles team of Jack Bromwich and Colin Long defeated Gardnar Mulloy and Billy Talbert, United States champions, 6-3, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3 today in the finals of the Victorian championships.

RAM GRIDDERS TO HEAR WIDDOES

Mansfield Madison's gridiron aggregation will be guests of honor at the annual Madison football banquet, Saturday night, at the high school gymnasium at 6:30.

Coach C. Widdoes, assistant Ohio State football coach, will be the principal speaker. Widdoes was head football coach in 1944 and '45, at which time he was named coach of the year.

Coach Jeff DeHaven will award 1946 letters to the pigskin performers after the dinner. Attorney Chalis Freehafer will act as toastmaster for the fete.

After DeHaven presents the awards, the captain-elect for the 1947 football season will be named.

The banquet will be sponsored by the Madison Boosters club, and Bill Ebenberger, club secretary-treasurer announced that the public invited to hear Widdoes' address in the auditorium after the dinner.

Thirteen boys will be receiving their first grid awards as they will graduate at the end of the school year.

Pioneers Trim Union, 29-18

Johnny Appleseed junior high school opened its 1946-47 basketball schedule with a 29-18, victory over the Union reserves yesterday afternoon on the Pioneer court.

Scoring 10 points the second quarter, the Appleseed five led, 16 to 6 at the half. Howard Tipper paced the Pioneer's offensive with four field goals and one free toss for nine points.

Jack Bargainer controlled the visitors backboard and his ball handling proved a dominate factor in the victory.

R. Diehl, Union guard, scored five baskets to lead both teams.

CHICAGO—(U.P.)— Andry Varipapa of Hempstead, N. Y., led a field of 16 keglers today with a 75.44 pin total after the first rounding in match play at the all-star bowling tournament.

Coach of Year

NEW YORK — (AP) — Earl (Red) Blaik, mentor of the famed Army squad that went unbeaten during the last three seasons, today was named "coach of the year" in the poll of coaches.

LEATHER PARTY—The camera stopped Eddie Knapp as he got ready to throw a right at Jack Seckinger, Mt. Vernon, in the main event of the Friendly House-40 et 8 fight show at the Senior high auditorium last night. However, it was the only time that Knapp was stopped as he piled up a big margin in toppling Seckinger.

3 Friendly House Scrappers Annex Victories Last Night

Three Mansfield leather flingers annexed victories last night in the first Friendly House-40 et 8 sock-fest at the Senior high school auditorium.

Eddie Knapp, Jack Brandt and Art Miller tacked up four-round conquests in the simon pure battling. Boxers from Fremont failed to make an appearance and the card had to be cut to seven bouts. The Kenny Berry-Charles Glover main event was among the cancelled matches.

Knapp's battle with Jack Seckinger, 130-pounder from Mt. Vernon, was shoved into the top spot and the F-H ringsmith experienced little trouble in winning a clear-cut decision. Knapp, 127-pound ex-serviceman, had the heavier Seckinger on the canvas in the initial heat.

A fullback on the Mansfield high team at the start of the season, Brandt had to use all of his stamina to cop a close decision from Bob Haycraft, Marion. Art Miller, John Simpson gridster, pounded out an easy victory over Darrell Murton, Marion. Miller weighed 154 and Murton 150.

Welterweight Ronald Blake, Mt. Vernon, decisioned Ray Burdine, F-H, and Olliss Levette, well-built Marion light-heavy, edged Walter Lumpkins, Mansfield high senior.

Top crowd pleaser was the semi-windup between Jack Draper, Marion, and Bob Kinnard, Mt. Vernon, welterweights. The two youngsters threw plenty of leather with Kinnard taking a knockout victory in 1 minute, 22 seconds of the final round. Kinnard exhibited a bruising left hook.

Two F-H boxers—Russ Baker and Bill Eberhardt—fought a no-decision curtain raiser. Paul Carbetta refereed all bouts.

Simpson Gets First Taste Of Basketball

John Simpson junior high basketballers get their first taste of action tonight at 7:15 when they oppose the Ashland JayVees on the Ashland hardwood. The tilt precedes the Ashland high school-Cleveland Rhodes contest.

Coach Bob Kennedy is certain of four starters against the older A's with one of the forwards berths still unsettled. Charles Jenkins or Wilbur McFadden are in the running for the fifth spot.

Sure starters are: Don Cline, forward; Ed Demyun, center; Johnny Sazdanoff and Willie Fowler, guards. Jim Miller, George Shoulders, Esker Jordan, Jack Wise and Mike Scodova are others who may see action.

Simpson plays its first home game next Wednesday against Loudonville. The Bulldog eighth graders meet a Loudonville junior quintet in a prelim at 4 p. m.

The 35-piece Simpson band, Gladys Arnholt, director, will make the trip to Ashland tonight.

* * *

ASHLAND—Coach C. E. Taylor is experiencing trouble selecting a line-up for tonight's game between the A's varsity and Rhodes. Dick Messner, sharp-shooting junior forward, is the only sure bet.

Footballer Dave Burns is leading the fight for the other forward with Don Drebus almost a cinch for the pivot post. Top guard candidates are Bob Harpster and Dick Cooper. Drebus and Harpster are lettermen. Other starting possibilities are: veteran Carl Strine, Mike Glasser and Norm Fierbaugh.

MADISON AT HOME AGAINST SHELBY

Mansfield Madison's 1946-47 basketball quintet makes its home debut tonight against the Shelby Whippets on the Ram hardwood.

Coach Jeff DeHaven's squad will be after its first victory. The Rams dropped a 55-28 verdict to an experienced Mt. Vernon quint last Tuesday night in their seasonal opener.

DeHaven announced that he would start Herb Eldridge and Eldon Pritchard at the forward berths, Dick Poth, center, and Wayne Strang and Dick Ernsberger at guards.

Ernsberger and Pritchard led the Rams' scoring against Mt. Vernon with 10 points each. Eldridge and Pritchard won letters last year.

Coach Bill Kopcial's reserves play the preliminary contest with the Whippet reserves at 7:15.

SHELBY—The Shelby Whippets will be out to avenge a 38 to 37 defeat handed to them by Mansfield Madison last season when they travel to the East Mansfield school Friday night for a non-league game.

The starting line up for the Whippets will be the same as the one that held Fostoria to a 29 to 26 victory in the season opener after leading up to the last three minutes of the game.

Three veterans will start. Dick Seitz, Shelby's six footer, will be at center, Dave Connelly, another six footer, and Bill Lucas will play at the forward positions. The other starters will include Jake Gates and Bill Thompson at guard posts.

The Whippets and Madison play on a home and home basis this year with the return game scheduled for Feb. 4 here. Coach Charles Williams' quintet won 10 out of 17 games last season for one of its best win and loss records on the cage court.

Sam Snead Leads Miami Open Golf

MIAMI, Fla. —(U.P.)— Sammy Snead, British open champion and sixth among the year's money winners, held a two-stroke lead as the field moved into the second round today in the $10,000 Miami open, final stop on the 1946 golf tourpnament swing.

Snead had a five-under par 65 yesterday, two strokes better than Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y., and Al Smith of Danville, Va. Ben Hogan, pre-tournament favorite and the 1946 money-winning champ, took a 68.

F-H League Contests

Rangers club basketball league of the Friendly House enters its second week of play tomorrow morning with Falcons playing the Rams and Bombers colliding with the Eagles.

ELECT TRAUTMAN TO HEAD MINORS

By TED SMITS

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Minor leaguers' resentment against their big brothers disappeared today under the general influence of George Trautman, new boss of all baseball outside the National and American leagues.

Elected unanimously to succeed 72-year-old Judge W. G. Bramham as president of the national association at $25,000 yearly, Trautman was described by President Frank Shaughnessy of the International league as "a man who has the confidence of independents and others."

Reflecting this harmonious trend the miners were called back into session, after a "final" adjournment yesterday, to thresh out differences of opinion over the major-minor league working agreement developing behind closed conference doors.

Trautman, 55-year-old executive vice president of the Detroit Tigers, divided his attention between the separate major and minor meetings. . . . Bramham remains as "consultant" at $10,000 yearly.

The majors, after announcing a general 1947 opening date of April 15, and a closing date of Sept. 28, thereby fixing the season again at 154 games, took up minor league proposals for revision of existing rules. The proposal for 168 games in 1947 had developed strong opposition, chiefly because it would upset all records.

Player mart action was headed by the Chicago White Sox' signing of Charles (Red) Ruffing, former New York Yankee great, as pitcher-pinchhitter.

Cincinnati added Jack Knott, former American league pitcher, as a third coach. George Kelly and Phil Page were signed earlier.

Detroit released relief twirler George Caster, while the Boston Braves released veteran Pitcher Bill Posedel to let him accept a player-coach contract with Seattle.

The city of Miami is the only official bidder so far for the minor leagues' next winter meeting.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

Prickly Porky the Porcupine is not a friendly person. He never tries to make friends. He doesn't want friends He is just about the most unfriendly person in all the Green Forest. And, of course, it is just so with Mrs. Porky. They are sufficient unto themselves, which is another way of saying that they ask no favors of any one and prefer to be by themselves. The fewer neighbors they have the better pleased they are They would just as soon have no neighbors at all. All they ask is plenty to eat and to be let alone.

And they are let pretty much alone. Only when winter storms and bitter cold have made it impossible for some of their meat-eating neighbors to hunt successfully and they are starving is their real danger for Mr. and Mrs. Porky. Even then Pekan the Fisher is the only one who seems to have no respect for the sharp little spears called quills which protect a Porcupine everywhere but underneath. And Pekan the Fisher, sometimes called Black-cat although not a Cat at all, but one of the big members of the Weasel family, is found only in the deepest parts of the great forests So here, where Prickly Porky was living, he had nothing to fear from Shadow the Weasel's big cousin, and little to fear from any one else.

Prickly Pork was up in a hemlock tree. The snow lay deep on the ground for there had been several early storms. It was piled on the broad boughs of the hemlock trees and the spruce trees and other evergreen trees. Prickly Porky was grumbling. Sometimes it seems as if he complains just to hear himself, for nobody else pays any attention to it It was a bother to knock the snow from the small sprays or branches he was cutting off that he might easier eat the leaves and tender twigs.

Reddy Fox happened along. He stopped to listen. Reddy was having hard work to get about because of the snow. He wished there was a crust Then he wouldn't mind the snow so much for on a crust he could get around fairly well and he needs to get about easily and quickly to keep from going hungry. Hunting in deep snow is hard for any one and seldom very successful

Reddy stopped now to listen to the grumbling and whining up in that tree. He grinned but it was a wry grin "Some folks don t know when they are well off," he muttered.

"Did you say something, Brother Fox?" said Lightfoot the Deer, stepping out of the neighboring thicket.

"Listen to the grumbling and complaining up there," said he

Lightfoot chuckled. "Have you ever heard him when he wasn't grumbling and complaining?" he asked.

Reddy shook his head "I never have," said he. "And what has he to complain about? Tell me that."

"Nothing," replied Lightfoot "That is why his complaining doesn't amount to anything. It means nothing. I guess it is just habit."

"There he is with the food he likes best and all he wants just for the taking, yet because he has to bother to knock off a little snow he frets and fusses I don't suppose that ever in his whole life has he been as hungry as I am this minute. Think of having all the food you want when you want it and nothing but a little climbing to do to get it," said Reddy. "There are always trees and I guess always will be," he added.

"Except when the red terror takes them," Lightfoot reminded him He meant fires.

"I forgot that That would make him as hungry as this snow makes me. But it would be no worse for him than for all the rest of us. Just listen to him! Do you know anybody who likes him? He is the most unfriendly fellow I know of anywhere," said Reddy.

"Unfriendly but a good neighbor. I'm glad he is around," said Lightfoot

Reddy turned to stare at Lightfoot "Did you say something?" he asked

'I said Prickly Porky is a good neighbor. Anyway I've found him so," replied Lightfoot.

"You'll have to show me," snapped Reddy.

300 Dine, Dance Get Gifts at Annual Traffic Club Party

The Central Ohio Traffic club's "party of the year" at the Mansfield-Leland hotel last night attracted approximately 300 persons from 13 area cities. It was the annual ladies' dinner dance and Christmas party. The members and their wives danced to the music of Nels Blocker's orchestra.

Dinner speaker was C. A. Radford, publicity manager of the New York Central railroad, who presented both the serious and humorous sides of transportation in his topic, "Transportation on Foot." He was introduced by the club president, Fred L. Ohler. Mayor Roy W. Vaughn gave the welcome address to the city, and W. J. Locke served as toastmaster.

Invocation, preceding the banquet, was given by Rev. A. L. Linder, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church. Following the dinner, the club welcomed back D. H. Jones of Grove City, Pa., who makes a special point of attending the annual celebrations. Jones led patriotic and group singing.

CPA Favors It.

Asked what CPA thought of the proposed large district hospital, as contrasted to a small county institution, Thompson said:

"We would much prefer a larger hospital It would serve more people with less expenditure of building materials. But at the same time we approved the application because it was represented to us that there is great need for immediate relief."

Wilkinson said that his group of 30 patients and former patients will seek endorsement of the district sanatorium from the various organizations represented at the Dec. 11 meeting. He claims his group, which intends to organize formally, has the "unofficial backing" of several hundred physicians, nurses and others in the four counties.

U. S. Faces Need for Holding Down Population, Byers Says

With the population of the nation increasing more rapidly than the food supply, the country faces a future which threatens the loss of our republican form of government, Calvin Byers, author, farmer and teacher, told the Mansfield Kiwanis club yesterday.

Byers said that official U. S. figures showed that only about 100 million people can be supported on our high standard of living under present methods.

"There are essential minerals which the Bureau of Mines predicts will be exhausted in 35 years if used at the present rate," he pointed out.

"Thus it can be seen that with a present population of about 140 million and predictions, from reliable sources of 170 million by 1970, we are arriving at an impasse unless something is done about it," Byers said.

There are three possible solutions to the problem, according to the population bureau of the United States Byers said. Using all the medium of publicity possible, the government could try to sell the nation on the idea of "reasonable population returns.

"Eugenics could be taught to the lower third of our population which accounts for the largest increase in population.

"Finally, efforts can be made for modern, reasonable methods of agriculture to conserve and to utilize to the best advantage our soil and resources.

"The greatest harvest of the soil is man," Byers concluded. "The soil puts into his body, his bones, and his brain the forces that make him an active living being. How better could one emphasize the importance of the land?"

Byers, whose column "The Farmer's Diary," appears in the News-Journal, was introduced by Russell Alger, program chairman.

BRAZILIAN LEADER FEARS NEW REVOLT

RIO DE JANERIO —(INS)— Col. Guarany Fronta, who led a revolt 14 months ago which overthrew Getulio Vargas, has charged that the former Brazilian dictator is planning an uprising to regain power.

Fronta, a professor at the Poroto Alegre Military school, asserted in a statement to a chain of Brazilian newspapers known as Diarios Associados that arms for the allegedly imminent revolt have been imported from Argentina.

Vargas, now a senator from the state of Riograndi Do Sul, charged on the floor of the senate yesterday that "meddling" by former United States Ambassador Adolf Berle was responsible for his ouster.

Try and Stop Me

A reporter interviewed William Jennings Bryan at an early stage of the silver-tongued orator's career. "Put this in your paper, son," said Bryan. "A man simply can't make a million dollars honestly."

Years later, when Bryan had salted away quite a pile in one activity and another, the reporter, now an editor, said shyly, "Remember what you told me about rich men in this very hotel long ago?" "Certainly," boomed Bryan. "I said, 'A man simply can't make two million dollars honestly.'"

A famous comedian held up production of a motion picture for three days because of a "persistent cough." "Listen," the director shouted over the phone. "There are just two kinds of coughs: drunken and the one you haven't got."

Mrs. Hotstuff breezed into a butcher shop and gazed down her elongated proboscis at the clerk "I'll have two dozen chops," she said, "and see that you make them lean." "Yes, Ma'am," said the clerk meekly, "To the left or the right "

2 Diseases Show Increase In County

The number of chicken pox and scarlet fever cases in the Richland county health district jumped sharply from October through November, health officials reported today.

Showing a slight increase were cases of German measles and whooping cough, while diphtheria, mumps, pneumonia, and syphilis dropped.

There were 24 cases of chicken pox in November as compared with 16 in October, and seven cases of scarlet fever as against three in October.

MINISTER DIES

ZANESVILLE —(AP)— Dr. Asa J. Kestle, Grace Methodist church pastor and a former superintendent of the Portsmouth district, died Wednesday after a brief illness. He served previous pastorates at Cincinnati, Xenia, Findlay, Hamilton and Chillicothe.

HAVING seen more high cards played by one defender than you thought he could have, you are pretty sound to deduce that his partner, who took strong action against you, holds any remaining big honors which have not made their appearance. In such a situation, it is logical to count that defender as possessing them and playing your various suits with that idea in mind.

Against that East decided to make the funny lead of the diamond A. When West gave him the 8, he repeated with the J. the Q forcing the K and setting up the 10. West then switched to his spade A, which North was happy to ruff. Noting that he would have to lose a club trick, he saw that he could make the contract if he managed to avoid losing one in trumps.

That was a time for a bit of study East had shown "a lot of stuff" by making an immediate overcall of the opening heart bid with 1-Spade while vulnerable, and then his later business double of the 4-Hearts. But none of his strength had yet made its appearance in the play excepting the diamond A and J. West, on the other hand, had already shown possession of the spade A and diamond K.

"That makes a full share for West under the circumstances," thought South. "East must have every other card of any height. If so, the heart finesse would lose to the queen. I am going to play East for that card and hope it is a doubleton."

So to the fourth and fifth tricks South played the A and K of hearts. Sure enough, the Q fell. That assured his contract, as the only trick he could lose thereafter was the club A.

PILES ARE NEVER MILD

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves, instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in the back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief — written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

If that Christmas shopping is to be done "early," it's high time to be about it.

And just to think! Some folks wondered if there would be anything for newspapers to print after the end of the war!

Thought for today—This would be a fine time for a clean-up of streets in downtown Mansfield, in anticipation of a large inflow of visiting shoppers who might otherwise be unfavorably impressed.

Stores Reflect Mansfield's Progress

COMMUNITY interests are so closely interwoven that the growth and prosperity of a city are dependent on many factors, high among which is the development and maintenance of a large variety of retail merchandising establishments designed to serve the needs of residents of the city and surrounding trading area.

Mansfield has been fortunate, since its early days, in having a high percentage of forward-looking merchants who prided themselves in keeping pace with community growth, and those who recall the appearance of principal business sections even a score of years ago will realize the vast changes and improvements that have come about within that time.

As welcome is being extended today to a newcomer in the retail merchandising field—the M. O'Neil store—memories are revived of other such happy occasions, when stores that are now long-established opened their doors for the first time . . . inviting the patronage of the people of Mansfield and vicinity and being favorably impressed by the spirit of hospitality which pervades this community.

Steady expansion of the area from which Mansfield's attractive and well-stocked stores draw patronage has been noticeable in recent years and this gives promise of continuing as more and more people realize the wide range of selection and the advantageous prices offered here.

"Buy it in Mansfield" has been the established practice of a vast majority of local residents for many years, and that motto may well be adhered to by all who have the interests of their home city at heart, for a city is properly judged by the extent to which patronage makes possible the maintenance of well-stocked modern stores in all merchandising lines.

Pay Raises For Mansfield Teachers

SUBSTANTIAL increases in salaries of Mansfield school teachers, to become effective in January, have been approved by the board of education after having been made possible by passage of the 3-mill tax levy last month.

It is gratifying to note that this was accomplished in an orderly way, without any strike, or strike threat, such as marked the procedure of teachers in some cities.

It has been unfortunate that the teaching profession has been so poorly paid in the past, and, even with the increases now being made, it may be doubted that compensation will be comparable with that of other work which requires equal preparation and competency.

There is food for thought, however, in an editorial comment by the Cleveland Plain Dealer about strike talk that appears to have been going on among some of the teachers in that city. It is to the effect that "there is a certain dignity to the teaching profession with which striking and picketing are not in keeping."

This is so nearly a general impression that pictures of St. Paul teachers picketing the schools of that city during a strike caused reactions varying all the way from merriment to disgust, rather than being seriously regarded as justified action.

The right to change from a teaching job to some more remunerative work has never been denied, but that an organized group of school teachers should join in a conspiracy to withhold educational facilities from the children of their community is outside the range of understanding by those whose tax money goes so largely into the construction and maintenance of schools.

Leaving Children Alone In Homes

ONE of the problems of many parents in moderate circumstances is that of finding someone to "stay with the children" for an afternoon or evening, with reasonable assurance of safety.

Inclination of available "sitters" in some of the larger cities has been to overcharge for this slight service, thus encouraging the dangerous practice of leaving children alone at home.

The Ohio Safety Council warns against this, directing attention to the many news items about children being burned to death or being injured by some kind of accident while alone at home.

Something in the way of a girls' organization, with members trained to care for and entertain children of various ages during an afternoon or evening—and willing to do this for a moderate fee—would seem to offer an excellent opportunity to perform a worthwhile service and to provide valuable experience.

See Drawback To Bus Riding

COMMENTING favorably on a recent editorial suggestion that downtown parking space could be conserved, during the holiday rush, if more people would use bus transportation in getting to and from their homes, a reader raises a point which may have impressed others.

"The only drawback is that the transit company does not run enough buses," this reader says, adding: "With an armful of packages it is quite a struggle to get on and off a crowded bus."

Anyone who has had the experience of trying to handle several packages while getting on or off a crowded bus will sympathize with the view of this observer, but it must also be taken into account that the volume and distribution of patronage must determine the extent to which bus service can be maintained at a profit . . . it having been losses that resulted in eventual total abandonment of street car service a number of years ago.

Navy scientists plan a survey to learn whether huge coal deposits exist under the ice cap of Antarctica—but surely they don't expect the strike to last long enough to bring coal from there.

In all probability, when that new juke box—at a dime a throw—gets into action, the depositor of a nickel will hear a record playing, "Give Me Five Pennies More."

It is pointed out that a motorist who attempts to beat a train to a grade crossing is more likely to get a cross than across.

"I WILL," SAID THE LITTLE RED HEN

Concessions By Russia Scanned Before Accepted At 'Face Value'

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR

RUSSIA'S newest concession—that the veto shall not apply in the operation of any arms control machinery which the U. N. may set up—led to immediate speculation at Lake Success as to whether Moscow foreign policy might be doing a "right turn."

Most delegates seemed jubilant after Mr. Molotov's statement. Some were looking for a suspected gimmick, but hadn't found it. Coming as it did on the heels of other concessions to the western viewpoint—on Trieste, the Danube, the principle of arms inspection, speeded-up demobilization among occupation forces in Germany—it began to look like Russia might be going to give the peace wagon a real push.

Observers were asking whether the time had arrived when Moscow, finding the troubled waters of the immediate post-war period about fished out, was preparing to give the world a respite from excursions and alarums.

The answer apparently lies in what comes next.

Russia and the other great powers still retain the veto power in the security council under which atomic and other armaments control must be organized. If any of them use it to prevent establishment of foolproof safeguards, there will be no real progress toward disarmament.

The meaning of the recent concessions in connection with Russia's over-all policy also remains to be seen. Observers are curious over any connection between Molotov's recent moves and the statement by Stalin, just before the assembly convened; that these problems, such as arms inspection, could be worked out.

For a time it seemed that Molotov was pursuing his own course without being too much influenced by what Stalin had said. Now, suddenly, he comes around.

Stalin's policy has always been to build up Russia first, so that she will be truly prepared for her world role. Molotov has been a little more inclined to press for expansion simultaneously with the build-up at home.

Now Molotov refers to worry over Russia's stand for the veto right in connection with disarmament controls as an obvious "misunderstanding."

Misunderstanding by the west of what all the speeches actually meant? Or misunderstanding by Molotov as to how long Stalin wanted him to hold out?

Reaction seems to be divided sharply. On the one side are some who suspect that any Russian concessions have an ulterior motive; that, if she is actually dropping her role as a surgeon carving out nice fees for herself among her neighbors, she is only doing so to anesthetize the world for a greater operation yet to come.

Others feel that Russia merely had been holding back through doubt of the sincerity of the other powers; that she felt she must establish, first of all, her own area of security; that she is now more convinced of American altruism, and that she is really going to work on the peace which she needs for reconstruction of her war-wrecked country.

One man who has been in close touch with the whole business seemed to represent the mean. He said:

"I guess you can't take any of this stuff at face value too quickly. On the other hand, if a fellow keeps on giving the appearance of trying to do right, you can't keep on questioning his motives forever."

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

On December 6, 1865, the United States Government protested against the French occupation of Mexico. This move was undertaken by the United States in the interests of the Austrian prince, Maximilian.

Dave Boone Says:

IF YOU smell something burning, it's John L. Lewis. Unless the supreme court rules otherwise (and in the meantime I hope we don't all freeze), John and his miners' union will have to dig down deeper than they ever have yet, and come up with something besides coal.

* * *

The three-and-a-half-million fine was so big I half expected the court to announce it in tons instead of dollars.

* * *

If it comes down to a question of preserving a labor union or the republic then this republic is going to be preserved, Judge Goldsborough said, and I've a hunch this statement will become historic.

* * *

There were so many huddles, recesses and delays before the decision came that I thought Judge Goldsborough might be penalized five yards just as Navy was in that game with Army for taking too much time out. All hands were in his chambers so long I figured maybe they had struck oil.

Well, well, even if things are not any too hot for you, they're hot enough for Lewis, I guess.

Daily Bible Thought

None of us liveth unto himself, and no man dieth to himself.—Rom. 14:7.

Calvin A. Byers

Farmer's Diary: "An Unexpected Guest."

The Pennsylvania Dutch farmer was cleaning out the horse barn on the day after Thanksgiving when his nearest neighbor came and stood in the barn door. The farmer was a small man with a kind face, white hair under a black hat, and twinkling blue eyes.

"Wie gehts, Pete," he greeted the other. "Sit down and tell us about your Thanksgiving celebration."

"I've come for that," rejoined the other, his face beaming. "I said to Martha that I'd just have to come over and tell you—thinkin' you'd be the likeliest one to understand. We had a fine Thanksgiving—Martha and I—we had a guest we hadn't counted on. I'd say, in fact, it was the realest Thanksgiving time that ever happened to us. It wonders me still that we had been lonely so long without finding out the need to invite a stranger in as our guest."

Neither of the men noticed that the farmer's young son had peered out from the nearest box stall to get a glimpse of the speaker. Neither of them gave a thought that such young ears might keep in memory for a long time what they chanced to hear . . . and I, who was that boy, had almost forgotten the incident, until something stirred a latent memory, to new and potent meaning.

"I found an old man sleeping under the stack behind my barn when I went out to do the chores yesterday morning," said the ruddy neighbor. "He musta been tired, for he didn't wake up when I walked over to look first, just went on asleepin' with his cheek on his arm and an old ragged blanket wrapped around him in the straw.

"I was milkin' when he came in the door, and spoke real polite, to ask if he could do anything to help. He had a kind of brogue, but I made out that he'd come after lights were out, and rather than wake us had just laid down in the straw. I told him where to find a fork, and let him throw down hay for the horses while I finished the other chores. He asked me how much land I had, and when I told him 80 acres, he said I was rich. He asked about my family, and when I said there was just Martha and me, he said right sadly, that his own wife died three years ago, and now he had nobody. So I took him along in to breakfast.

"He just couldn't believe it—that we'd sit him down at our table and make a guest of him. It touched his heart. And when we invited him to stay for the day, and offered him the chance to bathe and put on some clean old clothes of mine, he was plumb wordless. He looked away, like a man whose heart is too full for talk.

"So Martha made a good dinner. And we weren't lonely—and he wasn't either. He beat me at checkers, and said I should call him Mack. This morning he left, but he looked like a different man—so pink and clean shaven and hopeful! And I just said, most of our neighbors might think 'twas funny . . . but you, Mart, would understand. It wonders me that anybody has to be lonely for years before they learn to celebrate Thanksgiving day with the stranger within their gates."

Words of the Wise

What most people relish is hardly music; it is rather a drowsy reverie by nervous thrills.—George Santayana.

Men fear death, as if unquestionably the greatest evil, and yet no man knows that it may not be the greatest good.—W. Mitford.

ODD FACT

About a third of seventy-three principal political assassinations in the last eighty years occurred in June and July.

Stalin Suffers Health Setback, Another Heart Attack Reported

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Diplomatic dispatches from Moscow indicate definitely that Marshal Stalin's health has had another setback. He suffered a heart attack sometime in November and is now resting in the Crimea.

This fact has been made the subject of an official report to the state department.

This last heart attack is the second suffered by the man who has so long ruled Russia. Last winter he also had to go to the Crimea to recuperate from an illness.

Stalin is now 67 years old, but has crammed more diversified life and hardship into those years than any other world leader.

Imprisoned and exiled to Siberia eight times, the years have taken their toll, and Stalin was not play-acting when he held up Churchill and Truman by staying in bed one day at Potsdam.

It is generally expected that Foreign Minister Molotov will succeed Stalin.

Note—The experience of all American negotiators, from Roosvelt to Jimmy Byrnes, is that Stalin is much easier to do business with than Molotov. This may be because Stalin doesn't have to worry about the Politburo as much as Molotov.

Seagoing Admiral.

There are admirals—and admirals, in the navy. There is Admiral Ernie King, recently retired commander of the fleet, who kept U. S. marines guarding his regularly assigned quarters at the Naval Observatory (one of the safest places in Washington) and in addition collected seagoing pay because he also slept in his naval yacht moored in the Potomac Tidal Basin.

There is also Admiral Randall Jacobs, recently transferred chief of naval personnel, who had the use of a government-equipped house, plus a couple of Filipino servants at the old naval hospital in Washington.

And there is also Commodore Jake Vardaman, Truman's former naval aide, who requisitioned enlisted men to repair his Washington home (whether they liked it or not) and who also collected seagoing pay despite the fact that he was living in a comfortable home in a Washington suburb.

On the other hand, there is Admiral Marc Mitscher, a recent hero of the Pacific, now commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet. His permanent base is Norfolk. However, housing conditions are such that Mrs. Mitscher has not been able to rent a private home there. Mrs. Mitscher could secure naval housing at the Norfolk naval base, but her husband points out that since he is getting extra pay for sea duty, he has no right to sponge on the navy for free rent ashore.

Note—The Mitschers celebrated Thanksgiving day in some furnished rooms where cooking facilities were not good, and the admiral's galley crew wanted to surprise Mrs. Mitscher with a turkey cooked aboard ship and brought ashore. The admiral, however, said that seagoing duty was seagoing duty for thousands of men who couldn't even be with their families on Thanksgiving day and ruled out the sea-cooked, shore-delivered turkey.

Strip-Mine Coal.

"Old curmudgeon" Ickes, the man who used to battle it out with John L. Lewis in the Roosevelt administration, has now come out with the common-sense suggestion that the government speed up strip-mining.

Ickes points out that strip mines produce 100,000,000 tons of coal annually, and that if the government got busy with bulldozers and steam shovels and enlisted a corps of Seabees, this could be increased enough to keep the railroads and public utilities going.

However, the Truman administration is much more skilled at cooling its heels than sparkplugging a big drive for more strip-mining.

For instance, here is the reception which one strip miner, W. J. Lyda of Black Lick, Pa., got when he tried to get two Diesel shovels and two D-8 bulldozers. After getting the run-around in Pennsylvania, strip-miner Lyda finally appealed through friends to this columnist.

This office in turn contacted half a dozen people in Solid Fuels Administration and the Civilian Production Administration, all of whom were courteously anxious to be helpful, but could do little. In the end it was necessary to fill out CPA form 4425 showing the need of this coal machinery and send it to John E. Steinhauer, Metals and Minerals Division of the Civilian Production Administration.

Upon a proper showing of urgency it was said that the CPA would issue a certificate which would then permit coal-stripper Lyda to get his shovels and bulldozers—if he can find them.

However, the War Assets Administration informed this columnist that despite a certificate from CPA it had no D-B bulldozers, and no shovels. Furthermore, dealers state they will not have this equipment for eight months to one year.

Meanwhile, however, both the army and navy have row upon row of bulldozers and steam shovels which are not too busy. Furthermore, under the president's war powers—which still are in force—he has the power to requisition equipment from private companies now used on projects which soon must come to a halt anyway if there is no coal.

While this is not wartime, it may be worse than wartime as far as creeping paralysis is concerned if there isn't more esprit de corps and initiative on the part of certain bogged-down gentlemen in high government places.

Growth of Monopoly Seen as Threat.

WASHINGTON — Joe O'Mahoney, one of the two survivors among senate Democrats west of the Mississippi in what Democrats call "the late unpleasantness," is back in town with some wise advice about the future course of party policy.

It is that Democrats should alert themselves to the continued growth of monopoly. Concentration of economic and financial power in this country into fewer hands was one of the results of the war, as numerous studies have made clear.

It happened because war contracts were distributed largely to big corporations and many little fellows were squeezed out. Also because government-built war plants were disposed of largely to big corporations.

The Wyoming senator discussed this subject, among others, with President Truman this week in the hope that the president would have something to say about it in his annual message to congress in January. There the test will come.

The senator spoke from a thorough knowledge of the subject and from experience. This came partly from the exhaustive investigation into the whole American economic system and the growth of monopoly that was made a few years ago by the so-called temporary national economic committee, TNEC, which he headed. This investigation, embraced in 81 volumes of testimony, is the definitive work on that subject.

His experience also has included fighting monopoly in committees and on the floor, most dramatically when he checked the attempt of insurance companies to exempt themselves from the anti-trust laws.

The Wyoming senator told the president what he repeated later to reporters, which was that the TNEC report should be taken down again figuratively, dusted off, and considered most thoughtfully. For it gives all the clues to the sequel we now are witnessing, which is just more of the same concentration that was exposed.

Rather than a relaxing of anti-trust activity, which is the obvious intent of some high-up officials in the Truman administrations warmly sympathetic to big business and finance, Senator O'Mahoney would increase this activity and would furnish the anti-trust division of the justice department with the tools it needs in the way of funds and personnel.

To this end, after his conference with the president, he got together with Attorney General Tom Clark and Wendell Berge, head of the department's anti-trust division. Mr. Berge has become the target again of big interests working for a soft anti-trust policy.

Senator O'Mahoney is a "free-enterprise" man of the true progressive tradition. He abhors statism, or state control of our economy, on the one hand, and big-business control on the other, in his opinion, the only way for democracy to survive—is to make it possible for business to operate without government control, on one side, or the strangling restraints of monopoly on the other.

"If we remain free, we've got to make enterprise free," is the way he puts it in a nutshell."

It is a simple basic issue. It goes right down to the citizen in his everyday life—his food, his clothes, his home, and ultimately his job. For monopoly reduces the number of jobs.

Appearance of "Squeeze Play" Observed.

WASHINGTON — Recently in this column, was told the story of how the United States' supply of thorium, a valuable element in the process of atomic fission, was shut off by the fiat of an Indian maharajah. The order shutting off America's supply of thorium from India came after the United States has refused a British request for atomic bombs.

Further facts that have come to light make this episode seem even more revealing. Both British and American authorities deny that the ban on thorium from India is a deliberate retaliation. Nevertheless, it has the look of a reprisal.

The thorium that has been used by the Manhattan Project in the production of atomic energy comes from a mineral known as monazite sand. Monazite sand contains 27 other different kinds of rare materials essential to industry. In past years the United States has imported about two-thirds of its required supply of monazite sand from the state of Travancore in India, and one-third from Brazil.

Last April, the three American firms importing monazite sand for refining in this country were told they would not be allowed to get any more of the product from Travancore. This meant the end of a small but essential American industry if the ban was to be permanent. Incidentally, the products deprived from monazite sand are even more important to industry in war than in peace.

The leading importer and refiner is the Lindsay Light and Chemical company of Chicago. Charles R. Lindsay, head of the company, went immediately to London. There, he came up against a blank wall.

Lindsay was told politely that, since Travancore was an independent state, there was little that the British government could do about the ban. The maharajah, he was told, wanted to develop industry in his own country instead of being merely a supplier of raw materials.

Returning to this country, Lindsay sought help in Washington. He had the backing of the other two firms dealing with this rare material—one in Maywood, N. J., and the other in Brooklyn.

Lindsay entered into correspondence with Canada's Minister of Supply, C. D. Howe, suggesting that if empire preference and the need for dollars was the issue, he would be willing to consider building a refining plant in Canada. Howe took the matter up with London. Later he sent word to Lindsay that Lord Portal, chairman of the British Atomic Energy committee had said nothing could be done at present.

From firms he has dealt with in England in the past, Lindsay has had the more or less plain intimation that, if Americans want the products derived from monazite sand, they will henceforth have to get them from Great Britain.

Perhaps, one letter suggested, orders for next year would be considered, although that was not certain since the demand was already so great.

No monazite sand has come into this country from India since March. Reserves are being rapidly depleted. Derivatives of monazite sand are essential to the motion picture industry. They are essential in electronics, radar and radio. Thorium is vital to certain industrial processes quite apart from its use in atomic fission.

That is where the matter stands today. If there are no imports from India by February or March, the entire film industry will gradually come to a standstill.

This, of course, is minor compared to the larger meaning that the episode may have.

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, December 7.

JUDGING by current lunar transits there is little prospect of setting aside turbulent and torrid conditions of the previous day, with tempestuous, exciting, and ungoverned impulses and emotions still lacking control and regulation. In fact the mentality and nervous tension are still pitched to high gear, with little inclination to rationalize or curb, with resultant inharmony and confusion. Relaxation and diversion are recommended.

Those whose birthday it is may face a time of paying the toll for impetuous, unreasonable and reckless behavior, in which the emotions, impulses and mentality may be prone to set aside reason, analysis and regulated conduct, with far-reaching disturbance and frustration in business, home, social and romantic affiliations. Nervous tension, stress and fatigue may be at the root of this, impeding the judgment and inciting to regrettable words, actions and commitments.

A child born on this day may be nervous, high strung, temperamental, and should be given considerate and sympathetic understanding and training.

Things Few New Yorkers Know About N. Y.

THE RARE CHINESE fruits hawked in Chinatown are grown in Long Island . . . Waterfront workers have names for various piers. They are usually named after gals . . . Despite the legend that Manhattan is all stone and steel, the borough is dotted with more than a hundred parks . . . Thirty-two years after Columbus discovered America the strip of land known as Manhattan was discovered by Giovanni da Verrazanno. There isn't even a street named after him.

* * *

The lower end of Manhattan (between the Battery and 14th St.) is the oldest section of the city . . . During the 17th Century Wall Street was the favorite hangout for pirates. Coin your own wisecrack . . . The Stock Exchange has its own medical dep't and tailor . . . Greenwich Village originally attracted struggling artists and scriveners because rents were cheap there . . . Only one railroad has entry for its freight into Manhattan by land—the bulk of the railroad freight must be transshipped by tug and barge.

* * *

New York's fireboats are powerful enough to throw a stream of water over the George Washington Bridge . . . Meals in the city's hoosegows are planned by expert dieticians. No room service, however . . . The Battery derives its name from a British fort that was once situated there . . . One Vth Avenoo shop showcases male fedoras for $100 each . . . South St. is dominated by the sea. Sou'westers, sea boots, pea jackets, dungarees and other equipment for mariners are displayed in shop windows along this sector.

* * *

Chinatown's notorious Tongs are now peaceful benevolent societies . . . West St. is a man-made street. It used to be under water . . . Those grimy edifices near Battery Place reveal their pre-Civil War glory in carved lintels, arched doorways, and ornate cornices . . . If you want to view the Big Burg's pell-mello-drama in action, go to the waterfront—where tunnels, railroads, ferryboats, subways, buses and road traffic clutter the sector with all types of transportation carrying passengers and products to and from the city . . . Some of the Bowery's dismal buildings contain secret passages — once used as hideouts for criminals.

* * *

The pungent aromas around Reade St. emanate from the huge warehouses there stored with coffee, tea and spices . . . Syrian confectionery shops at the foot of Washington St. have the most unusual and tastiest goodies in town. . . . The most colorful edifice is the Western Union Bldg. It's stacked with 13 different shades of bricks . . . New York City owns and operates a fleet of ferryboats . . . Hart's Island prison hasn't any cells—only dormitories. Hmf. Such airs! . . . There are dusty tablets marking almost every historic New York event. The plaque on the building in Exchange Alley marks the site of the residence of the first white men on Manhattan.

* * *

The Big Town's least known government bureau is the Art Commission. It okays the designs of all public buildings and works of art . . . Didja know Radio City studios are coated with a special sound-insulating glue? . . . The architect who supervised the building of City Hall received $6 per day—a very good salary at that time . . . No one need go hungry or homeless in our burg. The Dep't of Welfare is ready to provide food and shelter for all unfortunates. Then howcum there are so many panhandlers?

Pegler Fair Enough

NEW YORK—"There was no conversation without a drink," Elliott Roosevelt wrote in his own story of his alcoholic journeys with his father to the Jovian stag-nights with Stalin and Churchill, and "the only way we talked was through the medium of a toast."

Elliott set out to depict Winston Churchill as a heavy drinker and a rather unpleasant fellow socially, but better managed to reveal his own appetite and impugn the manners and raising that he received from parents who never hesitated to tell better Americans how to bring up children. Now, having returned to Russia with his latest wife, he was invited to a party at the American embassy where, it appears, he again saw the world through the bottom of an upturned glass, and babbled callow profundities which were printed here and cabled back to Moscow. There he generally repudiated them and Elliot Roosevelt, of all persons, complained that he should not have been quoted because the party was private, and criticized the ethics of correspondents who certainly did no worse than he did, and for his enormous personal profit, in his Rollo book.

We are not told why the American embassy gave this party for him and it was reasonable to assume that the embassy would have barred the door lest privacy be violated and guests exposed to publicity and embarrassment. This man is not an official person, and he has put all hosts, official and private, on warning that they have social and financial traffic with him at their own considerable risk.

In trying to degrade Winston Churchill, Elliott got so confused among the wines and vodkas that he presented the blunderbuss wrong-end-to. Nothing that he writes about the "P. M.", as he calls the prime minister, is quite as belittling as his own revelation of the indignity that he put on himself for the sake of a wild party and a program of free drinks at Teheran. For Elliott reveals that, knowing he wasn't invited to the brawl, he put himself in a position by a side door where he would be seen by one of Stalin's bodyguards, who whispered to Stalin, who, under the circumstances, had to arrange another plate and draw up another chair for him.

* * *

EVEN ELLIOTT, a man of capacity, admits that he "had to take a deep breath, trying to think through the champagne bubbles" that night. History was making in the company of giant tosspots and the Roosevelts' problem child contrived to be there.

Americans who now apprehend darkly that Elliott has found some profitable way to set himself up as the agent of his late father's foreign policies and as a pro-Russian propagandist, will find explanatory and reassuring information in his mother's autobiography, "This Is My Story," published by Harpers in 1937. Here, Mrs. Roosevelt reveals a family history of serious drunkenness that flows smoothly into Elliott's own freely expressed enthusiasm for the flagon, the jigger and the crock.

"My family, I think, was typical of the early 1900's," Mrs. Roosevelt concludes, an indictment that may raise the temperature of some members of that contemptible American tribe known as the common man, who had no inheritances to squander nor entree to "society circuses," but sawed wood, hauled water and didn't raise their boys to "feel that American honor was at stake" on the amount of champagne that they could drink, as Brig.-Gen. Elliott Roosevelt did in that historic bout at bottoms-up when the gods relaxed, deciding the future of christianity, mankind and civilization, "toasting everyone in sight" at Teheran.

Elliott might make a historic spectacle or nuisance of himself, but, one consideration with another, Americans have reason to be confident that he can never achieve the status of a political menace.

Othman On Anything

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The round little fellow with the serape accent said if the Republicans, by chance, were making a list of Democratic scandals to investigate, he hoped they'd include Puerto Rico.

A lock of gray hair curled over the pink brow of Chairman Carroll Reece of the Republican national committee. He beamed.

"We are not going to overlook any green pastures," he said.

The members, assembled in their first formal meeting since the election, laughed. They cheered. They clapped their hands. I haven't seen so many cheerful people in Washington (come to think of it) in exactly a month.

The ladies wore trick hats, corsages and big smiles. They all were young, beautiful, and good. The gallant chairman said so. The gents looked chipper, too. Their faces were shining; their comment appropriate.

Take Gov. Ralph E. Gates, newly elected committeeman from Indiana "When a child is born back home," he said in his acceptance speech, "his first intelligible words are these: 'I am not a candidate, but if sufficiently urged, I will accept.'"

Even the scene, in the South American room of the Statler hotel, was gay. Samaba dancers threaded among the palm trees painted on the walls. Yellow circles cascaded down the apple green drapes The well-chewed cellophane on the cigar of Sen. William Langer of N. D. glistened in the spotlights.

Reece said one problem the Republicans might as well face now is housing for themselves at their convention in 1948. One of the committeemen agreed; he said hotels already were booking rooms for summer after next.

* * *

"IF WORSE comes to worst," said Committeeman Raymond Haight of you-guess-where, "you can come to Southern California. You don't need houses there."

"Well sir," suggested Guy Gabrielson, a gentleman from New Jersey, "let us remember that Atlantic City is a pretty nice place. It's got an ocean, too."

Reece turned that one over to a special sub-committee and the committeemen had a few thousand words to say about those Democrats. Not all uncomplimentary, either.

"We've inherited something of a mess in this country," began Rep. Charles Halleck of Ind., the chairman of the national congressional committee, "We've got to do something about it. I've talked to a lot of Democratic congressmen who are coming back and durned if some of 'em aren't as happy about our victory as we are."

"Just think," said the white-haired Ex-Senator John G. Townsend of Delaware. "We used to come back here every two years and mourn. Now look."

Chairman Reece called upon Rep. Clarence Brown of Ohio, the campaign director. Brown wore a red, white and blue necktie and a wide smile. He, too, complimented some of the Democrats.

"We had the help of many patriotic Democrats in this victory," he said. He added that he'd like a little credit for himself.

"I mean I voted the Republican ticket," he said.

PLEADS FOR BABY'S RETURN—A 21-year-old French woman, Mrs. Colette Bouvet Thienot, sits in court in Los Angeles, after tearfully pleading for return of a baby she bore an American flier but later signed away for adoption by another family while she was "without friends or money and in despair." The court ruled she was entitled to custody of the child.—(AP Wirephoto)

TRY TO STEAL CAR, FINED $300

Two army privates who attempted to steal a Mansfield policeman's car have been sentenced to six months at hard labor and fined $300 each by a military court, Detective Howard Schuck, who testified at their trial, said today.

The pair, Billy A. Klotz, 18, of Sandusky, and John B. Wise, 20, of Alliance, admitted trying to steal a 1936 model car owned by Patrolman Marion Hardesty Oct. 19.

They were spotted during the attempt by Miss Carolyn Cox, police department secretary, who called officers to the scene.

EAGLE SCOUTS GIVEN BADGES

Tom, Dick and Harry—all in the Arter family at Crestline—now have their Eagle Scout badges.

Harry Arter, following in the footsteps of his brothers, received the high Scouting honor last night at the Johnny Appleseed area Court of Honor at the Mansfield Elks home. Seven Scouts got their Eagle badges at the ceremonies.

Lexington came within one of breaking the record for the number of Eagle candidates from one troop with four youths, Roger and Donne Jean, brothers; Duane Wirick and Art McLaughlin receiving the badges. Mansfield's Marvin Mertz and Harry Wilmoth completed the role of those receiving highest honors.

John L. Catlett was warden of the Eagles in the impressive ceremonies attended by about 80 parents and guests. The Eagle candidates, led by C. I. Kimmel, were instructed in the Scout motto by Kenneth Langston, in the Scout slogan by William Werner, and in the Scout laws by Fred Werner. They were addressed briefly by Catlett.

Then, in solemn moment the Scouts' fathers pinned the Eagle badges on the tunics of their sons, and the Scouts, in turn, pinned a miniature Eagle badge on their mothers, completing the impressive induction.

Similar ceremonies were held in presenting eight Scouts with Life badges, 11 with Star badges and two with bronze Eagle palms. Warden W. Mead presented Life badges to Robert Wygant, James Garberich, John Wirick, James Ogden, William Wilmoth, Charles Watts, Robert Leppert and Dale Povenmire

William Werner and Gene Holmes received Bronze Eagle palms.

W. J. Hanson served as scribe for the court of honor.

"The Appleseed area now has 218 Eagle Scouts in 20 years of existence" Floyd Dent, Scout executive pointed out. The purpose of the court of honor is to congratulate the boy for work done in securing the 21 merit badges and performing the many other tasks necessary to achieve the rank of Eagle. It is also to encourage further advancement and service to the community and Scouthood."

ERIE HISTORY—

The Erie railroad and the cities along its route make in interesting story in the book, "Men of Erie," by Edward Hungerford, which was published today. The book relates the colorful history of the road which was built over a route mapped by William Redfield, Connecticut saddle maker and traveler, who traveled by stage coach, canal boat, and horseback from New York to the Mississippi river. The Erie, however, didn't get to the Mississippi. It crosses New York state, northern Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and ends at Chicago.

SPEEDY ACTION TAKEN TO EASE FUEL SHORTAGE

Ohio to Get Share of Supply; Operation Replaces Only Fraction of Coal Loss.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Natural gas poured eastward through the government's little inch petroleum pipeline today in an effort to alleviate somewhat the spreading fuel shortage. It may begin flowing also through the big inch pipeline in another day or two.

Both the government and the Tennessee Gas and Transmission company, which was awarded a four-month contract Monday to operate the two 1500-mile lines, exhibited unusual speed as the paralysis arising from the coal stoppage continued to grow.

An initial fifty million cubic feet of gas daily entered the little inch conduit Thursday afternoon at Natchitoches, La. A similar amount may soon be pouring also through its companion pipeline. The time is dependent upon the amount of water which has settled in the big inch pipeline during the more than a year it has not been in use.

It was emphasized that although the two pipelines will help in alleviating the situation, the gas they carry will only make a small dent in the fuel shortage.

The gas will be distributed largely in Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and possibly western Pennsylvania, reaching consumers in five to fourteen days.

Meanwhile, the house surplus property committee continued to wrestle with the problem of permanent use of the pipelines, which cost the government 146 million dollars to construct.

War Assets Administrator Littlejohn, the lines' custodian, prepared to advertise again for new bids in about two weeks to replace the 16 from oil and gas interests which he rejected Nov. 19 as too low.

THIEVES GET ASSORTED LOOT

A series of minor thefts in Mansfield yesterday netted approximately $90 worth of loot, police reported today. Police also are investigating two attempted breaking and enterings.

The Mansfield Hardware company on North Foster street, yesterday reported the theft of an electric drill valued at $25.

William R. Munson, Mansfield, R. D. 4, told police his automobile was broken into last night on North Main street. He said a seat, pillow, gearshift knob and flashlight, all valued at $14, were missing.

Police are investigating the breaking and entering of a service station at Second and Hedges street last night. Mrs. George Aten, 372 Second avenue, reported an attempted entry of his garage last night.

David Schiller, 77 Parkwood boulevard, told police today his brown leather coat valued at $50 was stolen yesterday at the Westinghouse plant.

Community Tree Planned

South Boulevards will have its first community Christmas tree this year, under a project sponsored by the Boy and Girl Scouts and the Cub Scouts of both organizations.

The tree has been donated by the Wade and Gatton Nurseries of Bellville and Scouts are busy making ornaments. The South Boulevards Civic club is in charge of donations for special tree equipment.

The tree will be erected at Westview boulevard and Lexington avenue and will be visible from all parts of the village, club members reported. Plans call for illumination of the tree on Christmas eve, even if substitutes for electric lights must be used, committee members said.

Members of the group in charge are Mrs. Maurice Lybarger, Jennings Swisher, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Bricker, Mrs. Frank Vild, Phil Backman, C. R. Fichter, John Mastrek and Paul F. Murphy.

Women Chatter While Man Dies

LAKE CITY, Wash. —(INS)— Women's chatter on a party line telephone was considered a possible factor today in the death of Hewlett Prince, Lake City meat dealer.

When the 70-year-old butcher was stricken his partner, Charles Newsome, tried to call a doctor. Newsome said two women chatting over the telephone refused to give up the line even when he told them of the emergency. Finally Newsome drove his elderly partner to a doctor's office. Volunteer firemen administered artificial respiration in vain.

FRENCH ASSEMBLY VOTES ON BIDAULT

The Popular Republicans, second largest group in the national assembly, made the decision to present their former premier-president in a party caucus. However, Communist opposition and a number of expected abstentions are likely to overwhelm Bidault's attempt to succeed himself.

Super-Speed Planes Coming Soon, Says Scientist

TRIPS ACROSS U. S. TO TAKE ONLY AN HOUR

German Expert Predicts Big Change in Aircraft.

By KEN DAVIS

DAYTON—(AP)—One-hour commercial airplane flights from New York to the Pacific coast for $75 are foreseen within the next three years by one of Germany's leading scientists.

"Our present speed for transcontinental planes is much too slow and the costs are much too high," says Dr. Alexander Lippisch, formerly chief designer for the Messerschmitt Aircraft Works.

"A supersonic (faster than sound) plane would be easier and cheaper to build and much simpler to maintain and one plane could make three times as many trips as the best transcontinental plane of today."

Lippisch is one of 86 German scientists who volunteered to continue their experiments in the United States under contract to the Army Air Forces. A recent tour of nearby Wright Field gave newsmen their first opportunity to learn the identities and work of the German volunteers.

Because supersonic speed will be achieved only in the stratosphere, Lippisch asserted, flights will be practicable only for distances of 1,000 miles or more.

For shorter distances "you better take your car," he advised.

Economical speed, Lippisch said, would be 2,000 miles an hour.

Form Undecided.

What form the supersonic plane will take is a matter of dissension, even among the Germans. Lippisch declares the flying wing design is the answer, but Dr. Rudolf Hermann, another of Germany's top aerodynamacists, holds for the trapezoid wing, which he says reduces variations in pressure to about one-tenth of what they are in the flying wing principle.

Hermann declared the true forerunners of tomorrow's supersonic planes already had been built by Germany in the last summer of 1944.

Lippisch, to bolster his argument for the flying wing, pointed to the Delta-6. This all-wing plane, capable of whistling along at 650 miles an hour, was developed at Vienna but the Russians arrived before it could reach the production lines.

Hermann said that although space ships around ocean-spanning rockets were only dreams during World War II, they are entirely possible.

"We were five years of peacetime development away from completion of an actual ocean-crossing rocket," he said, but added that German scientists had produced a successor to V-2, which they called A-9. In effect a winger V-2.

"The V-2 had a range of 190 miles," he said, but the A-9 could reach 350 miles, although at a somewhat slower rate of speed."

One number away, A-10, was the rocket designed to cross the Atlantic. A-10, Hermann said, never reached the drafting boards, but all energy computations had been made.

It would have weighed 100 tons and would have operated with a 200-ton thrust. V-2 delivered a thrust of 25 tons.

The Germans never took talk of an interplanetary missile too seriously, Hermann continued, but he said such a rocket was entirely possible. It would have to be built with a three-stage ejection system to overcome gravitational pull.

Col. P. F. Helmick, in charge of the technical work of the German scientists, said they led the world in war-time development of infra-red rays, supersonic wind tunnels, high-speed plane designs and jet and rocket propulsion engines.

"We had no propulsion systems comparable to the German's for guided missiles," Helmick said.

Japs Had Success.

Contrary to general belief, the colonel added, the Japanese also did considerable original research and were highly successful in studies involving air flow, synthetic fuels and metallurgy.

"Scientific collaboration between Japan and Germany was extensive until the late stages of the war," Helmick said. "Then, mutual distrust and a breakdown of communications put an end to it.

One of the big reasons German researchers were able to lead the world in some phases of aerial development, Helmick said, was that "they had unlimited funds."

Although the Germans to whom newsmen talked were smiling, cooperative and most modest, Col. R. H. Curtis, chief administrative officer, declared that many of them "feel quite superior to our own scientists."

However, Helmick said, although German help will save the United States two to 10 years of experimentation, the Germans' work will be correlated with the discoveries of U. S. scientists "to achieve the best results."

ASHLAND SEEKS JOINT HEALTH COMMISSIONER

City, County Boards Consider Full-Time Director.

ASHLAND — Possibility of a merger of Ashland city and Ashland county health boards in employing a full time health commissioner was under consideration today.

The two boards do not plan to merge themselves, except in joint employment of a full-time commissioner, it was decided.

At present Dr. C. B. Meuser is serving as full-time health commissioner for Ashland until another commissioner can be obtained, while Dr. G. B. Fuller, Loudonville, serves as county health commissioner on a part-time basis.

The boards discussed the advantages of employing a full-time commissioner and laboratory technician to serve the entire county.

* * *

Application Considered.

Unable to obtain a permanent health commissioner up to now, the Ashland city board is at present considering one favorable application for the position.

The proposed city-county plan was discussed with members of the state health department in Columbus recently by Dr. Meuser and F. J Ryan, member of the county board. It was learned that such mergers are common procedure.
